

The changing role of learning in the information society

Vetési Erika

`vetesi.erika@gmail.com`

ELTE TÓK DPD

Abstract. Within the framework of the presentation we will look over the changing opportunity of the school in a changing world. In our historical review, we touch upon the concepts of learning from earlier ages. We examine the role that learning played in a given educational history. Finally, reflecting on the challenges of the 21st century, we interpret the role of learning in the information society.

Keywords: learning theory, information society, 21st century skills